

Gary-7: Actor/Musician Bio

Gary-7 began pursuing acting late in life after waking from a lucid dream in which Gary Cooper told him, "With a voice like that, you can have anything you ask for. Use it." To which he replied, "I want a job as an actor." Since then he has gone on to work on various films and TV shows, including Star Trek Into Darkness, American Horror Story, the SAG indie feature Solver, and most recently, he played The Ghostly Priest in Annabelle Comes Home.

He has a theatrical background and was a founding member of ART Players. He has studied acting at the advanced level with Joseph Pearlman, Meisner Technique with Fran Montano and improv with Kent Skov at L. A. Connection.

Gary-7 is represented by commercial agent Sumer Park at The Park Agency and is currently seeking new theatrical representation.

As a musician, he studied composition and electronic music at The Oberlin Conservatory. He went on from there to become a member of the NYC East Village Antifolk scene as a singer/songwriter/guitarist, and now lives in the Highland Park neighborhood of Los Angeles where he continues to play and record.
